DETAILED ACTION

1. The claims 1-22 are pending.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
  - “source table 220”, page 10, lines 19, 29, and 31 and page 11, line 1, should be “source table 230”.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

3. Claims 1, 2, 4, 10, 11, 13, 19, and 22 are objected to because of the following informalities:

- “the condition” in 9th line of claim 1, 11th line of claim 10, 10th line of claim 19, and 10th line of claim 22 should be “a condition”;
- “the coding” in 1st line of claims 2 and 11 should be “a coding”;
- “the entry” in 1st line of claims 2 and 11 should be “the entries”; and
- “the double-byte code” in 2nd line of claims 4 and 13 should be “the multi-byte code”.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

4. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Art Unit: 2166

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

5. Claims 10-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. "An article of manufacture comprising a computer readable medium having computer readable program code embodied therein" in lines 1-2 of claim 10 is insufficient to render the claims tangibly embodied in a manner so as to be executable. Page 6, line 13, thru page 7, line 16, discloses the medium as including both storage medium type (i.e., memory) and transmission medium type (i.e., signal), both medium types having computer readable program code embodied therein. See MPEP 2106 (IV)(B)(2)(a). The same rationale applies to claims 11-18 and they are likewise rejected. "A computer program product" in 1st line of claim 19 is insufficient to render the claims tangibly embodied in a manner so as to be executable. See MPEP 2106 (IV)(B)(1)(a). The same rationale applies to claims 20-21 and they are likewise rejected.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1, 5-10, and 14-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Griffin et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,006,216).

With respect to claim 1, Griffin teaches migrating content from a source table in a source database to a target table in a target database, wherein the databases are physically different (i.e., migrating content from AdminDB to ReadDB, wherein AdminDB utilizes normalized schema and ReadDB utilizes unnormalized schema, and AdminDB and ReadDB reside on different platforms, fig. 2, lines 32-45 in col. 6, and lines 22-39 in col. 7). Griffin teaches storing entries corresponding to database instructions in at least one of the source table and the target table, with a business application consecutively sending database instructions to the source database before migrating, the business application consecutively sending database instructions to the target database after migrating, each entry in each table having a unique key, and the database instructions having action types (line 64 in col. 3 thru line 11 in col. 4, line 7 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7, fig. 2, fig. 10, and fig. 14). Griffin teaches storing representations, for at least one entry in the source table, of the action type and of the unique key in a log table under the condition that the action type coincides with a predetermined action type (i.e., generation of delta, line 64 in col. 3 thru line 11 in col. 4, line 7 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7, fig. 2, fig. 10, and fig. 14). Griffin teaches copying entries of the source table to the target table (line 64 in col. 3 thru line 11 in col. 4, line 7 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7, fig. 2, fig. 10, and fig. 14). Griffin teaches adjusting the entries in the target table that have keys represented in the log table according to the action type representation stored in the log table (i.e., entries in ReadDB table are copied and adjusted, line 64 in col. 3 thru line 11 in col. 4, line 7 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7, fig. 2, fig. 10, and fig. 14).

With respect to claim 5, Griffin teaches adjusting the entries is performed in a first adjustment period while the application is sending database instructions and in a second adjustment period while the application is not sending database instructions (line 52 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7).

With respect to claim 6, Griffin teaches the predetermined action types are selected from the group consisting of insert, delete, and update (line 52 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7).

With respect to claim 7, Griffin teaches the database instructions are SQL statements (lines 11-25 in col. 10).

With respect to claim 8, Griffin teaches adjusting the entries comprises adjusting a first portion of the source table with a first portion of the target table substantially in parallel with adjusting a second portion of the source table with a second portion of the target table (i.e., handling multiple transactions concurrently, lines 31-35 in col. 1 and line 52 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7).

With respect to claim 9, Griffin teaches copying entries comprises copying a first portion of the source table to a first portion of the target table substantially in parallel with copying a second portion of the source table to a second portion of the target table (i.e., handling multiple transactions concurrently, lines 31-35 in col. 1 and line 52 in col. 6 thru line 8 in col. 7).

The limitations of claims 10, 19, and 22 are rejected in the analysis of claim 1 above, and these claims are rejected on that basis.

The limitations of claims 14 and 20 are rejected in the analysis of claim 5 above, and these claims are rejected on that basis.

The limitations of claim 15 are rejected in the analysis of claim 6 above, and the claim is rejected on that basis.

The limitations of claim 16 are rejected in the analysis of claim 7 above, and the claim is rejected on that basis.

The limitations of claims 17 and 21 are rejected in the analysis of claim 8 above, and these claims are rejected on that basis.

The limitations of claim 18 are rejected in the analysis of claim 9 above, and the claim is rejected on that basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 2-4 and 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Griffin et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,006,216) in view of Nowlin, Jr. et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,484,309).

With respect to claims 2-4, Griffin discloses the claimed subject matter as discussed above except converting the coding of the entry. However, Nowlin teaches converting the coding of data from ASCII-code to Unicode (lines 19-33 in col. 3 and lines 42-51 in col. 4) in order to transfer the data to a system that uses only Unicode strings which are 16 bits per character. Therefore, based on Griffin in view of Nowlin, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to utilize the teaching of Nowlin to the system of Griffin in order to transfer the data to a system that uses only Unicode strings which are 16 bits per character.

The limitations of claims 11-13 are rejected in the analysis of claims 2-4 above, and these claims are rejected on that basis.
